DON'T KNOW RICKEY.

The Silver State thinks that the in erview with Tom Rickey in regard to the bundreds of spers p'ling one onto the other in a ra fine, is not Tom Rickey's interview at all, as the copiousness of language is not his.

The editor . . the Silver State knows not wi ... of he speaks, or swearing at a bunch of steers bursting out of a witle corral.

Mr. Rickey's language on these occasions is fully as copious and as epigramatical as Victor Hugo's or any other man.

All of the interview was in Mr. Rickey's own classic language. When Mr. Kelly speaks of the old guard at Waterloo going into the sunken road he is in error. Al- meat than anybody. though thorughly in touch with the political history of N. vada, he has | til the 15th of August, as the enevidently not read of the great battle of Waterloo.

It was the cavalry that went en masse into the sunken road of Ohain, some time before the Old Guard, Napoleon's pet infantry, stood in the twilight until mowed down by the English guns.

It was in the day time when the cavalry went into the douth pit made by the sunken road and night was closing over the final scene of the days drama, when the last of the Old Guard shouted out that Civil Engineer, Surveyor and untranslatable word "Merde" in response to the request to surrender.

But to return to Mr. Rickey being but one step from Napoleon, the kinds of Above and Below ground APPEAL will state that Mr. Rickey is a linguistic snow-slide when swearing at steers either in the day or night and sometimes, in a falling sheep market-his remark is the same that Cambronne hurled back | gineering. at Great Britian and with equal force and effect.

He Stopped the Paper.

About two months ago, a subscriber of the APPEAL becoming angered at something in the paper requested the publisher to stop sending it.

He then went to some people with whom he was friendly, and asked them to stop their paper.

He found one, a saloon-keeper, who was willing to do so at his request. The result was rather pecular. There were five people who were in the habit of seeing the APPEAL in the reading room of the saloon and after looking for the paper morning after morning and not finding it, and and liking any other saloon reading we mas well, they all subscribet for the APPEAL Result-loss Liw substribers and gain of fi

Finally the saloon becoming tired of constant in airies for the APPEAL ordered the paper left at the saloon aroun.

As a result the patrons who took the AIPEAL because they could not get it at the salcon ordered their paper stopped as they found it cheaper to get it in the saloon. Total result of the deal, less of one subscriber.

Sir Edwin Arrolds new poem "The Light of the World" was telegraphed to the Examiner By the time the Western Union lines had finished their tussle with Sir Edwin's lines, many of the latter were as badly used up as Kemmler. Electricity is becoming a great power.

The European papers think Uncle Sam is not able to enforce the Mource doctrine. Any doctrine, the principle of which we are able to uphold at home, we can enforce abroad.

In another column is a letter by the Board of Trade to some of the men who have amassed wealth in Nevada. It is one of the best moves ever made in this State and sustains a principle for which the APPEAL has been fighting for years. The time has come for the wealthy men of this State to say whether they are for State development or against it.
